I. FACTS ABOUT THE 40th PAN ATLANTIC SMS GROUP OMNIBUS POLL™

---

The most recent Pan Atlantic SMS Group Omnibus Poll™ was conducted between October 13th and October 16th, 2008. This independent survey data is being released to the Maine media in the public interest.

All interviews were completed on a CATI (Computer Aided Telephone Interviewing) system at the Pan Atlantic SMS Group Interview Center by our in-house staff. This omnibus survey is the 40th in a series of omnibus surveys conducted by Pan Atlantic SMS Group. Because we have conducted this poll on a frequent basis over a long time period (since 1995), we are in a unique position to provide reliable benchmarking on a range of important issues.

A randomly selected, stratified statewide sample of 400 Maine adults was interviewed. Since the poll contains questions relating to issues which will be voted on in the November 2008 elections, the survey was administered only to people who are registered voters and who identified themselves as being “likely” to vote or have already voted via absentee ballot in the November 2008 elections. All others were excluded from participation. Although the survey instrument was administered only to registered voters who said that they are likely to vote or have already voted via absentee ballot on November 4th, the results contained herein represent a snapshot of voters’ opinions at a point in time. They do not purport to predict final poll results. As Election Day was approximately three weeks away at the time in which the poll was conducted, changes in final voter behavior may occur in the interim. This could result from increased voter scrutiny of the issues, media coverage, editorials, advertising, etc.

The sample was stratified based on U.S. Census of Population and Housing data. The sample size has statistical significance of  $\pm 4.9$  percent at the 95 percent confidence level. This means that if the survey were to be repeated, 95 times out of 100 the results would reflect the results of this survey within the  $\pm 4.9$  percent margin of error. The results are broken out by various demographic sub-samples, including Congressional District, political party affiliation, age, household income, and gender. The margins of error for specific sub-samples are significantly higher than the  $\pm 4.9$  percent margin of error for the entire sample. Please note: The margin of error for the District One Congressional Race question is  $\pm 6.81$  percent and for the District Two Congressional Race question is  $\pm 7.05$  percent at the 95% confidence level.

II. FINDINGS – 2008 ELECTIONS

Favorability of Presidential Candidates

I'd like to get your overall opinion of some people in the news. As I read each name, please say if you have a favorable or unfavorable opinion of these people -- or if you have never heard of them. How about _____? Is that very or somewhat favorable / unfavorable? [Options were read and rotated] (Q1)

(N=400)	John McCain	Barack Obama
4 – Very favorable	25.8%	33.5%
3 – Somewhat favorable	23.8%	26.0%
2 – Somewhat unfavorable	21.5%	13.5%
1 – Very unfavorable	25.5%	22.5%
Unsure	3.5%	4.5%
Never heard of	0.0%	0.0%
Very / Somewhat favorable	49.6%	59.5%
Somewhat / Very unfavorable	47.0%	36.0%
Mean (1 to 4)	2.52	2.74

Sixty percent of respondents (59.5%) have either a “very” (33.5%) or “somewhat” (26.0%) favorable opinion of Barack Obama, while 49.6% of respondents have either a “very” (25.8%) or “somewhat” (23.8%) favorable opinion of John McCain – a spread in favor of Senator Obama of 10 percentage points. Respondents rate Senator McCain more unfavorably than Senator Obama by a similar margin (McCain “very / somewhat” unfavorable, 47.0%; Obama “very / somewhat” unfavorable, 36.0%).

- It is worth noting that Senator McCain’s favorable/unfavorable rating is almost evenly split (49.5% favorable vs. 47.0% unfavorable), while a strong majority of respondents rate Senator Obama favorably (59.5% favorable vs. 36.0% unfavorable) – a 24 percentage point spread.
- Independent voters favor Senator Obama (64.9%) more than Senator McCain (45.6%). This 19 percentage point spread is significant given that a sizeable percentage of the Maine electorate are Independent voters.

John McCain (Mean Score)
Higher	Lower
• Republican (3.43)	• Democrat (1.89); Independent (2.41)*

Barack Obama (Mean Score)
Higher	Lower
• Democrat (3.34)	• Republican (1.91)
• Female (2.89)	• Male (2.57)
• $35K < $65K income level (2.92)	• < $35K income level (2.55)

**The means within the “lower” category are also statistically different from one another. Throughout the report, statistical differences within either the “higher” or “lower” category are denoted with an asterisk.*

Favorability of Vice Presidential Candidates

I'd like to get your overall opinion of some people in the news. As I read each name, please say if you have a favorable or unfavorable opinion of these people -- or if you have never heard of them. How about _____? Is that very or somewhat favorable / unfavorable? [Options were read and rotated] (Q1)

(N=400)	Joe Biden	Sarah Palin
4 – Very favorable	27.3%	22.3%
3 – Somewhat favorable	28.5%	25.0%
2 – Somewhat unfavorable	13.3%	15.0%
1 – Very unfavorable	21.0%	31.3%
Unsure	8.0%	6.0%
Never heard of	2.0%	0.5%
Very / Somewhat favorable	55.8%	47.3%
Somewhat / Very unfavorable	34.3%	46.3%
Mean (1 to 4)	2.69	2.41

Fifty-six percent of respondents (55.8%) have either a “very” (27.3%) or “somewhat” (28.5%) favorable opinion of Joe Biden, and 47.3% of respondents have either a “very” (22.3%) or “somewhat” (25.0%) favorable opinion of Sarah Palin – a spread in favor of Biden of 9 percentage points.

Respondents rate Palin more unfavorably than Biden by a margin of 12 percentage points (Palin “very / somewhat” unfavorable, 46.3%; Biden “very / somewhat” unfavorable, 34.3%).

- A greater proportion of women respondents favor Biden over Palin (59.2% vs. 44.6%) – a 15 percentage point spread.

Vote for President

I know that Election Day is still a few weeks off, but if today were Election Day, which presidential candidate would you vote for? [Options were read and rotated; if undecided, respondent was asked which way he/she is leaning at this time.] (Q2)

	June 2008 (N=400)	October 2008 (N=400)
Vote John McCain, Republican	25.8%	30.0%
Lean John McCain, Republican	6.3%	8.5%
Vote Barack Obama, Democrat	36.8%	41.3%
Lean Barack Obama, Democrat	9.3%	10.0%
Vote Cynthia McKinney, Green Party	NA	0.5%
Lean Cynthia McKinney, Green Party	NA	0.0%
Vote Ralph Nader, Independent	NA	0.8%
Lean Ralph Nader, Independent	NA	1.0%
Other	3.8%	0.3%
Still undecided	18.3%	7.8%
Vote / Lean John McCain	32.1%	38.5%
Vote / Lean Barack Obama	46.1%	51.3%
Vote / Lean any other candidate	3.8%	2.6%
Still undecided	18.3%	7.8%

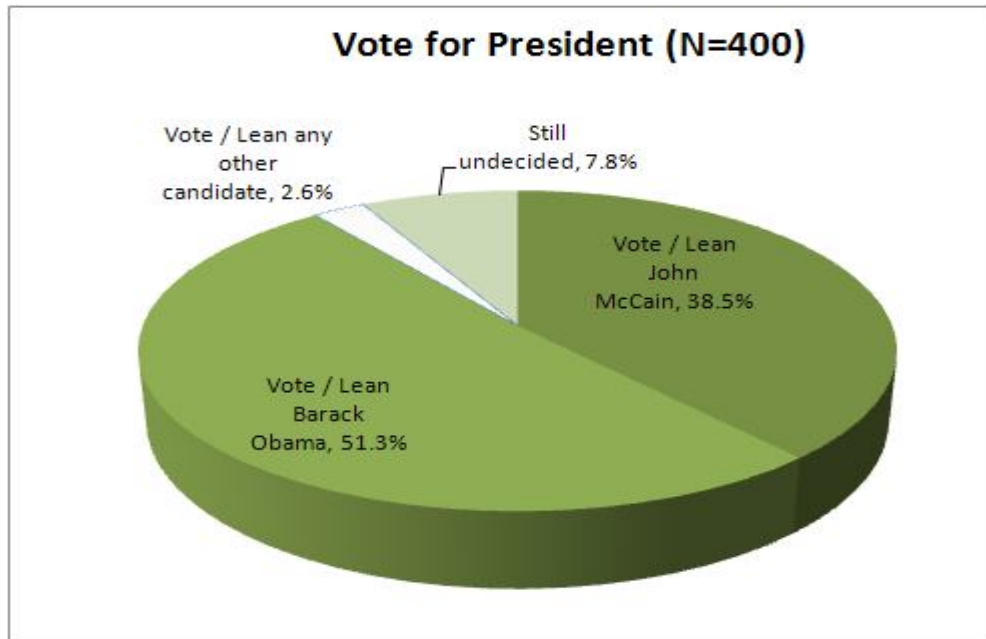

Fifty-one percent (51.3%) of those polled said that, if the Presidential Election were held today, they would “vote / lean” Barack Obama, while 38.5% of respondents said they would “vote / lean” John McCain. Three percent (2.5%) of respondents would vote for a different candidate, and 7.8% are still undecided. Thus, Senator Obama has a 12.8 percentage point lead over Senator McCain at this time.

- There is no meaningful difference between Congressional District One and Two voters with regard to this issue (see chart on next page).
- Females are more likely to “vote / lean” Obama (54.0%) than to “vote / lean” McCain (34.2%). Thus, Senator Obama has a 20 percentage point margin with women voters.
- Obama has a 19 percentage point margin over McCain with Independent voters.

Referendum Question #1: Dirigo Health Program Funding

There will also be a couple of referendum questions on the November ballot. Question 1 asks: “Do you want to reject the parts of a new law that change the method of funding Maine’s Dirigo Health Program through charging health insurance companies a fixed fee on paid claims and adding taxes to malt liquor, wine and soft drinks?” If today were Election Day, how would you vote on this issue? [If undecided, respondent was asked which way he/she is leaning at this time.] (Q7)

	(N=400)
Vote Yes	52.5%
Lean Yes	4.5%
Vote No	31.3%
Lean No	3.5%
Still undecided	8.3%
Vote / Lean Yes	57.0%
Vote / Lean No	34.8%

Fifty-seven percent (57.0%) of respondents said that, if today were Election Day, they would support (52.5% vote YES, 4.5% lean YES) this referendum question. Thirty-five percent (34.8%) of respondents said that they would oppose (31.3% vote NO, 3.5% lean NO) this question, and 8.3% are undecided. Thus, there is a 22 percentage point margin in support of this referendum question.
